TEACHER'S NOTES

PREPARATION

- 1 Copy the worksheet on to different coloured paper; one colour per team of 3 or 4. If you don't have coloured paper, use different coloured markers and draw a line down the left side of the page.
- 2 Cut under each question from right to left leaving the left edge of the page uncut. When the students have completed their question correctly then you can tear off the next question. The result is what looks like a grass skirt!

PROCEDURE

- 1 Tell the students that they are going to have a competition in teams and that they will be given one question that they must answer correctly before they get the next question and so on. The winning team is the team that answers all the questions correctly first.
- 2 Put the students into teams of 3 or 4.
- 3 Tear off the first question from each different coloured worksheet and place face down in front of each team. Tell the students to wait to turn over the question until you have given out all the questions and said "GO!"
- 4 Tell the students that they can start and when they have the answer to write it into the blank or beside the question (depending on the questions you have given them). It is a good idea to have the answers on hand so you can quickly tell the students whether it's correct or not.
- 5 If the answer is correct, tear off the next question from their team's worksheet and give it to them.
- 6 If the answer is incorrect, send the student back to their team to try again. If they don't get the answer the next time, give them a hint or tell them the answer if they're behind the other teams.
- 7 After there has been a winning team encourage the remaining teams to continue answering the questions for second and third places. Give enough time for all the teams to finish.
- 8 Then review the questions that the students had difficulty with or didn't get to finish and take note of errors made to be reviewed in the next class.
