

13 SCOTTISH DOG BREEDS

Complete the texts about some Scottish dog breeds with the words below.

shelties

deer

children

ball

hunt

holes

intelligent

brushing

nose

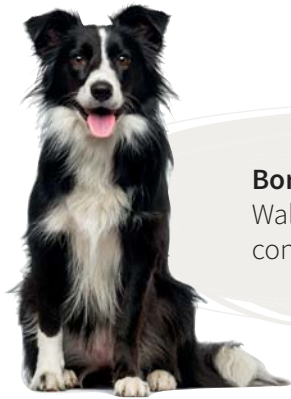

exercise

Rough Collie They became a very popular dog breed because of the movies about a dog named Lassie. They have a long (1) _____ and a fluffy coat. They are herding dogs and are generally great with children and other animals.

Smooth Collie They are very active and need a lot of (2) _____ to feel happy. This breed is very sociable and has an outgoing temperament.

Border Collie Their name comes from the borders of England, Scotland and Wales where Border Collies were bred to work on farms herding animals. They're considered to be one of the most (3) _____ breeds.

Bearded Collie They're extremely energetic, intelligent and loving. Regular (4) _____ and grooming is recommended to keep their hair matt-free.

Scottish Terrier Scotties are extremely fast and alert. They enjoy chasing a (5) _____; it will keep them happy for hours.

West Highland White Terrier They are intelligent dogs, very sociable but also known for their stubborn character. They like playing with toys and have a natural instinct to bark and dig (6) _____.

Shetland Sheepdog They are also known as the (7) _____. They are a herding dog that originated in the Shetland Islands. They are known for their intelligence and ability to learn new tricks very quickly.

Gordon Setter They're very fast, intelligent and need firm but gentle handling. The original purpose of the breed was to (8) _____ gamebirds. They are loyal and affectionate to their owners.

Golden Retriever What makes them one of the most popular family dogs worldwide is their unconditional love for (9) _____ and their loving and patient character. They were bred to retrieve shot birds, such as ducks, while hunting.

Scottish Deerhound They were originally bred for (10) _____ hunting. They love running and their natural instinct is to chase small animals.